SUBJECT: Proof of Certificate of Liability Insurance

By this notice, Young Brothers (YB) is reminding you of two tariff provisions that are particularly important in your use of Young Brothers equipment.

- All loss to or damages to Young Brothers equipment and all liability for loss to cargo or injury to third parties arising out of the custody or use of YB equipment is solely the responsibility of the shipper or consignee that retrieves the equipment. The shipper or consignee is responsible for the actions of any agent/trucker that they hire. This responsibility includes returning YB equipment in the same clean and working condition as when it was originally received from Young Brothers.
- The shipper/consignee or its agent/trucker is required to carry liability insurance in the event of bodily injury or property damage that arises out of the custody or use of YB equipment. Customers who regularly use our equipment should have their insurance company file a current Certificate of Liability Insurance with Young Brothers. The insurance is General Liability and Automobile Liability Insurance with the policy reflecting the following minimum coverage and information:

General Liability:	$ 1,000,000 CSL
Automobile Liability:	$ 1,000,000 CSL or equivalent
Additional Insured Statement:	Young Brothers is named as an additional insured with respect to the insured's use of YB equipment
Vehicles Covered:	Year, Make, Model, Vehicle ID Number, or VIN

Our automated freight system (FACE) must have current information on file in order for Young Brothers equipment to be released. As the year draws to an end, please review the expiration date of your insurance policy. A current certificate should be sent to Young Brothers at least two weeks prior to the expiration date. Updating your account may take up to 24 hours. If your certificate of insurance is expired at the time of desired entry or exit of Young Brothers facility, your trucker may experience delays or not be allowed to retrieve Young Brothers equipment until we have received the proper insurance documentation.
